Gala Fiesta Activities Get Underway on Tuesday

14 Candidates Will Campaign For King and Queen Crowns

By TONY CIFARELLI
Star News Editor

Posters, banners and other publicity for Fiesta King and Queen candidates may be put up Tuesday in the Quad, according to Al Haim, IOC and Fiesta chairman.

All publicity is restricted to the Quad area immediately outside the old student store. Posters and banners must be approved by Dean Nena Royer's office and may not go up prior to Monday.

Sandy Kennedy and Lee Wright were chosen Queen and King at last semester's Fiesta. The largest vote total in the college's history was cast last spring. The count was 1124.

King and Queen will be crowned at the Fiesta Dance, Saturday, May 7 around 10 p.m. in Men's Gym. Prizes and awards, probably cups, will be presented to the winners. Two princesses will reign alongside the Queen. The other coeds will be ladies-in-waiting.

A special "Miss Congeniality" contest will be held this spring, said Haim. Queen candidates will vote for the girl that has the best personality and inspires the group in the Fiesta tradition.

Rules for Fiesta King and Queen publicity must be followed by sponsoring clubs, according to Haim.

1. All publicity for candidates must be handled by the sponsoring club.
2. No club is to spend more than $35 for the publicity.
3. Handbills and publicity stunts will be permitted, but they must have approval of Dean Royer.
4. Publicity for candidates is scheduled for the period from Monday to May 5. Posters may be put up the weekend immediately preceding Monday and must be taken down by each sponsoring club by Friday, May 6.
5. Any club disregarding these rules faces the penalty of having its candidate disqualified from the contest.

Tow Service 'Strikes' Parking Violators

Two Cars 'Stickered', Then Hauled Away

Cracking down on habitual parking violators, Kermit Dale, assistant dean of student activities, had the cars of two students towed off campus Tuesday afternoon by Fox Valley Motors for blocking a parking lane in the Burbank Blvd. lot. Both cars were posted with illegal parking stickers before they were towed away.

Owners of the two cars will have to pay an $8 towing charge plus an additional charge of $1 a day for storage.

One other car was illegally parked in the same area, but its owner hastily moved it when the first of two tow trucks pulled on campus.

It took approximately seven minutes for the tow trucks to arrive on campus after being called by Dale.

With the towing service now available, there is no longer a parking problem, said Nick Singer, chairman of Executive Council parking committee.

Singer also said that parking stickers are being applied with discretion to cars that are illegally parked.

The towing away of the two cars marked the first definite action taken on the chronic parking situation since a student was suspended from school for two days earlier this year.

The towing system has been the goal of the parking committee all year. However, legal red tape prevented official approval until several days before Easter vacation.

Harold W. Kennedy, Los Angeles County Counsel, said, "If students have been advised beforehand and where the removal of vehicle is reasonably necessary in order that school business will not be impeded, interrupted or delayed, cars can be towed away," in a letter to Dale. Kennedy also deemed the placing of parking stickers on auto windshields legal.

1. Blocking an aisle of a parking lot;
2. Blocking part or all of an entrance or exit;
3. Parking in areas reserved for emergency vehicles;
4. Blocking access to an area in reasonable use or prospective use.

Jerry Dexter Replaces Grant As Assembly MC

A conflicting engagement has canceled the appearance of Johnny Grant, disc jockey for radio station KMPC, at Valley's coming talent show which will kick off a drive to replenish the depleted Green and Gold Fund next Thursday.

Jerry Dexter, a disc jockey at the same station, will substitute for Grant, who will be in Washington, D.C., on the day of the show, said John Dickson, publicity director for KMPC.

The show, which will also kick off Green and Gold Week, will be held at 11 a.m. in the Men's Gym. Green and Gold week will be held April 28 through May 6.

The Green and Gold Fund is an interest-free loan to students who are in financial difficulty and need money to continue their education.

Grant, who was originally going to bring professional entertainers to the show, will be in Washington, D.C., meeting with members of the Department of Defense and the USO to plan his next tour to entertain members of the armed forces overseas.

JERRY DEXTER
DJ Takes Over

Grant has made 18 trips overseas, 13 to Korea, Japan and the Far East, two to the Carribean area, two to Europe and one to Alaska.

He has also made 800 trips in the United States and generally has a troupe of from 15 to 20 entertainers with him, said Dickson.

The show, which is the first money raising activity for the Green and Gold Fund since Louis Armstrong's concert in September 1958, was originally an activity of the Valley Associated Business Students. It has now developed into an IOC activity with all clubs on campus participating.

"The Fund, which needs to be built up once more, now has only $280 in available funds," said Conley Gibson, bursar.

"If the fund is not replenished, students who need the money will have no funds to draw from," said Gibson.

"I hope the drive will net the fund about $500," he said.

Money for the fund will be collected in both day and extended day classes by the Knights, men's honor service organiaztion. Each club will donate 25 cents per member at the discretion of the club.

No admission will be charged for the talent show.

Exec Council on 'Hot Seat' For Quad Wrangler Debate

BY FRANK L. KAPLAN
Star Staff Writer

Student government will be the next topic of the Quad Wranglers when they present Jim Cunningham and Bob Wolf, speech majors, in a continuing discussion today at 11 a.m. in the Quad.

Facing Cuningham and Wolf, in the discussion of problems occuring in the Executive Council, will be members of the student body government.

No in Between

"There can't be any in between so far as testing of nuclear weapons is concerned," said Gill. "The stalemate situation that is presently between the United States and the Soviet Union has to be constructed into a healthier situation if nothing more serious is to happen."

Also commenting on the nuclear test program was Kermit Dale, assistant dean of student activities, who said that there is no "safe testing" of nuclear weapons.

Either there will be uncontrolled testing of nuclear weapons by all the countries that have them, or a complete agreement that no testing will be done at all, he said.

Only through complete cooperation on the part of all the major countries can this stalemate be neutralized and a bar on nuclear weapons established, he concluded.

Discuss ICBM's

Intercontinental ballistic missiles and defense against them was another topic that was discussed.

At present there are no definite defenses against IBM and if both sides start pushing little "red buttons" both sides will be practically a total loss, said Michael Alexander. "Who would want to live in a half-destroyed world after an attack?"

Only through cooperation between countries will there be a road to peace and efforts may then be put toward peacetime developments instead of war endeavor, he concluded.

Student Paintings In Madonna Festival

Several oils by Valley art students will be displayed in the 13th annual Madonna Festival to be held May 1-8 at the Wilshire Methodist Church in Los Angeles.

Valley entrants are Lillian Levy, Mitzi Ellis, Shelby Flint, Margaret McAtee, Myrna Snapp and Martha Woodford.

Interview Students For Airline Careers

American Airlines representatives will visit Valley next Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Room B60 to interview students interested in airline careers.

Although the company is interested primarily in future stewardesses, other applicants will also be considered.

The airlines contribute their need for new talent to the phenomenal growth in all phases of airline industry.

Signoret To Screen In 'Casque D'Or'

Simone Signoret, Acadamy Award winner for Best Actress of 1959, stars with Claude Dauphin in "Casque D'Or," a French film to be presented by the Athenaeum Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Men's Gym.

Open to all Athenaeum members, faculty and students, with 50 cents admission for the general public, the film shows aspects of Paris life 50 years ago, according to Lorraine Eckhardt, Athenaeum chairman.

The film, which was described by the New Yorker as "recreating a period and a mood with authenticity," shows roadside cafes, the grimmer suburbs of Paris and the banks of the Marne.

'Picnic' Ducats On Sale Early

Tickets for the theater arts production "Picnic," which will be staged May 17 through 28, will be on sale Monday because the interest shown by students has encouraged an early sale of tickets, said Bill O'Brian, publicity manager of the production.

The play, which will star Sharon Farnon as Madge and Mike Kuhn as Hal, will be the last major production staged this semester.

Tickets may be obtained at the Little Theater box office daily between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. for $1. Reservations may be made by calling the theater arts office at ST 1-1200, Ext. 394.

There will be a matinee performance Wednesday, May 25, at 2:30 p.m. instead of an evening show. All other performances start at 8:15 p.m.

Song Leaders Tryout Monday

Students wishing to try out will demonstrate their routines in regulation Valley gym uniforms in the presence of a faculty committee. Their purpose will be to judge if the students are capable of handling the job of song or yell leader before they are put on the ballot to be voted upon by the student body.

The committee will judge the song and yell leader prospects on their display of enthusiasm, general performance, personality and rhythm, according to Tizrah Lundgren, dance instructor and chairman of the tryouts.

Four song leaders and four yell leaders will be chosen with four alternates. Their job will be to lead the college in cheers at all fall sports events.

Dancers Will Swirl About Los Angeles

Tourists dancing their way through th landmarks and prominent attractions of Los Angeles will be the theme of a dance festival presented by the physical education department.

Applications For Nursing Still Available

Applications are still available for Valley's new nursing program, according to Miss Juanita Booth, head of the nursing department.

Deadline for all applications for this new course beginning next fall is May 10.

"Since only a limited number of students can enroll in these classes, an effort to obtain those best suited to the profession is being made," she said.

She also said that at the present 48 students have signed up for the course. A maximum of 30 will be accepted.

The program, which has been accredited by the State Board of Nurses, consists of four semesters of regular day classes and two sessions of summer school. Upon completion of this curriculum the graduates are qualified to take the state board test and receive their registered nursing certificates.

Open to men as well as women, applicants must have had at least one year of high school chemistry and at least a "C" average in all solids taken while in high school and college.

Optional Counseling Appointments Open

Counseling appointments are available now in the Admissions Office in preparation for fall registration, which begins May 16, according to Albert Caligiuri, assistant dean of admissions and guidance.

Liaison Group Meets Tuesday

New developments in state college curriculum and mutual problems will be discussed by the San Fernando Valley State-Junior College Liaison Committee Tuesday, according to William J. McNelis, Valley College President.

"The junior colleges will probably want information on how transfer students are performing at SFVS," said McNelis. "New courses and changing general education requirements will also be discussed."

Seven junior colleges from the Los Angeles area are scheduled to attend the conference. Valley will host the meeting this year. The meeting alternates between the junior colleges and the state college.

Antelope Valley, Glendale, Ventura, Pierce, Santa Monica and Los Angeles City College have been invited to attend.

One representative from each junior college will discuss new trends in college development and make recommendations to improve them.

"By understanding the problems of the state college we alleviate the problems students face when they transfer," said McNelis.

'Inside' Exposed

Seven JC's Described

"Inside the Seven Los Angeles Colleges," a magazine written about the seven colleges of Los Angeles, will appear on campus for the first time next week.

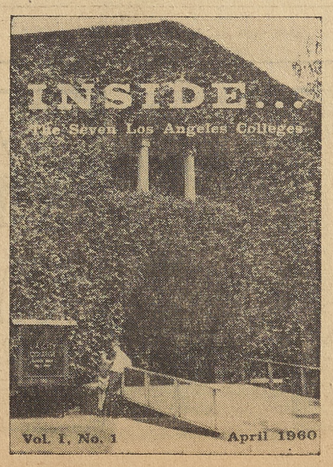
"Inside," edited by Valley journalism major Dan Fapp, will make its appearance at Valley College, while copies will be circulated throughout the city.

"This is the first magazine of its type," said Fapp. "Never before have students from seven colleges combined their articles into one magazine of this type."

The purpose of "Inside" is to inform the public about the merits and capabilities of the junior or two-year college and tell where the junior college fits into today's educational system.

"Articles in the magazine cover many phases of the junior college, and it is not only interesting reading but educational to the public," he said.

The magazine, published through the Los Angeles Board of Education, was construed by Walter T. Coultas, assistant superintendent of higher education and former president of Valley, and the city's public relation committee for junior colleges.



The committee, composed of representatives from each of the seven Los Angeles junior colleges, placed the operation of "Inside" in the hands of Valley journalism instructor Dr. Esther Davis.

Late last year, plans were formulated for the magazine including format and ideas for photography. The final products composed of color covers, general articles by each college and a "glimpse" inside each college.

Valley's writers for the magazine include Lorelei Calcagno, Fapp, Frank Kaplan, Kent Thompson and Larry Smith. Photography editor was Arline Ballonoff.

Technical assistant for makeup was done by Ken DeVol, journalism instructor.

Next year's editor for "Inside" has been announced by the relations committee as Bill Homer, a Valley journalism major.

Cabral Shows Art Exhibit

Realism with overtones of surrealism will be displayed by Flavio Cabral, art instructor, in the latest library art exhibit. The exhibition will end April 29.

Cabral, a veteran of 15 one man shows, has worked nearly every style over the years including abstractionist, cubist and expressionist.

Feeling a great need for communicability and good craftmanship, Cabral finds the field of realism challenging today, "because artists must say something new. Styles have long been tradition."

"In the five years I have known Mr. Cabral I have seen his works develop to such a degree of excellence that he is considered today as one of the most outstanding painters on the West Coast," Nystrom said.

Help for the 3 R's

"Readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic" have been glorified in song and rhyme as the traditional ingredients of "learnin'." Total education consists of much more.

The Athenaeum series gives students a chance to view foreign film classics, museum films and hear lectures by noted personalities in literature, anthropology, politics and modern dance.

Opportunities to hear such people as Dr. Margaret Mead and Earl Clement Attlee should not be ignored. Their opinions and concepts can supplement and add to the three R's we get in the classroom.

The time, energy and thought that the Athenaeum Committee gives to the scheduling of the 25 or more presentations given each year should not be overlooked when we are laughing with Attlee or chuckling inwardly when Dr. Mead hits home with a biting remark about society.

Consisting of six faculty members and one student, and under the chairmanship of Miss Lorraine Eckhardt, the committee sponsors all segments of the series and spends uncountable hours selecting the different speakers and planning the programs.

The Athenaeum can be one of the major benefits of the time a student spends at Valley. The level of the series can unknowingly elevate the recent high school graduate's thinking from the Ricky Nelson and spinner hubcaps school of thought.

Not enough can be said about the noble endeavors of this committee. If attendance is gratifying then they should be eternally happy for the response to this addition to the three R's has been outstanding all year.

—KENT THOMPSON

No More Warnings

The notices circulated this week were positive proof that Valley students can't take "no" for an answer.

For years now the administration has pleaded, warned and threatened students about illegal parking on campus. These were promptly ignored by students.

Now the warning is over and students will begin to learn the hard way why parking regulations are set up. Those who still turn a deaf ear will find themselves trekking to the other side of Van Nuys to redeem their car from the towing yard for $8.

The reasons for the crackdown are obvious. The parking offenses punishable by towing away are all concerned wiht safety hazards posed by cars blocking aisles, entrances, exits, areas for emergency vehicles or access to an area.

Such illegal parking not only endangers every other car in the lot in case of an emergency, but it leaves the offending car open to damage from other cars trying to squeeze by in the space left.

It is too bad that students were not able to realize these hazards on their own and avoid the use of force to carry out reasonable regulations.

ASB Vice President Upholds IOC; Says Clubs Are Promoting Activity

Editor:

I am deeply shocked and ashamed of the editorial written by your club editor Dan Fapp in the April 7 issue of the Star. Fapp said that the IOC has done nothing. I don't believe that he knows what IOC means. IOC is coordinating clearing house for club activity. It doesn't make club activity; it acknowledges it and helps it along.

In short, Fapp has accused 30 organizations on this campus, including Beta Phi Gamma, honorary journalism society, of doing nothing. This I feel is not true. I would like to compliment all clubs on this campus for a job very well done. The clubs this semester have done quite well in promoting activity.

Fapp has inferred that the individuals involved, namely the student body president and myself, are "Tammany Hall" politicians. May I remind you sir that we are known around campus as GDI's and that means individuals independent of any on-campus or off-campus political affiliations.

During this semester we have done a fair and equitable job representing all student organizations on and off campus. It is our job to represent all students on this campus and we have maintained this representation.

Fapp fails to see this. He attacks the IOC and Council constitutions for its incongruity. But how incongruent can a club editor get when he takes one hour to look over two constitutions that took student government with faculty help years to prepare.

The club editor appears to have little knowledge of constitutional law. He expects the IOC constitution to have regulations governing Fiesta booths. This is rather hard as Fiesta occurred after the foundation of the constitution was written.

Perhaps Fapp is suggesting that we amend the constitution to include the booths. This is like suggesting that we include cattle rustling, parking regulations and the weather report in the constitution of the United States.

Things like Fiesta booths can't be "written in" constitutions. They are implied in the legislative powers of an executive body. I refer you to Article 3 of the Executive Council Constitution, Section 1, "All legislative powers shall be vested in the Executive Council."

Included is the power to make financial appropriations and to supervise the preparation of the budget and the power to authorize, purchase and to present all awards and the power to enact legislation for the general improvement of the college. Section 2 reads, "General supervision over all associated student activities shall rest with the executive council."

Article IV states that the dean of student activities shall advise the Council.

Does Fapp doubt the ability of the student body officers elected by the student body, the deans of student activity and the president of the college?

I am shocked and ashamed of Dan Fapp's column. If Fapp would bother to read the front page of the Star's last issue, read the IOC minutes and check his own club news column, he would be aware of what IOC is doing.

I greatly respect the ability of Dan Fapp, but after looking at the editorial, I can only quote an old cliche previously written in the Star: "Boy, what a mess!"

Chairman, IOC

Reports on Billboards

Editor:

With further references to billboard advertising on property adjacent to Valley College, the City Beautification Coordinator reported as follows:

"Jack Matthews, public relations at Foster and Kleiser, has caused a change of advertising copy displayed on the billboards at that location. In place of the former signs pertaining to alcoholic beverages and other subjects in bad taste, the signs are now carrying automobile advertising.

"Discussions have been entered into preceding formal negotitaions between Valley College and the Southern Pacific Railway. The Southern Pacific Railway has offered the location to the college at a lesser fee than that presently derived from the Foster and Kleiser Company.

"Foster and Kleiser will eliminate the growth of weeds in the near future."

Your interest in the appearance of the area surrounding the campus has certainly been productive of much good. Should my further assistance be needed, it will be a pleasure to cooperate with you.

Student Can't Learn Talent, Must Have It, Says Davis

By ALI SAR
Star Staff Writer

"We can't give talent if one doesn't already have it. But we can help one to improve his talent in various acting areas," said Bob E. Davis, chairman of the theater arts department.

Davis has taught many starlets and hopeful newcomers during his teaching career at Valley since 1949. He claims that most junior college graduates have no intention of attending a four-year college and majoring in theater arts. Instead they try their luck in the entertainment world.

Even though no Valley TA graduate has ever made an overnight Hollywood success, many former students have shown a substantial amount of talent in different mediums.

Marty Milner, who recently played a part in "Compulsion," a 20th Century Fox film, now has a part in "Sexpot Goes to School" by Albert Zugsmith, who is claimed to be one of the most successful independent producers in Hollywood and usually makes low budget "quickies" for teen-age audiences.

Robert Sampson, another hopeful graduate, is working at Columbia Pictures "Strangers When We Meet," starring Kim Novak and Kirk Douglas.

Darlene Tompkins, also a former Valley student who has won several beauty contests, now is engaged by 20th Century Fox Film Corporation to star in one of the major productions of that studio this year, "Wake Me When It's Over," starring Ernie Kovacs.

Jill St. John, a red-haired sexpot, is another TA product who recently received a substantial amount of publicity due to her marriage to Lance Reventlow, Barbara Hutton's son.

This semester the TA department has one part-time and three full-time instructors. Davis' hope is to reorganize the night program in the future. It is a hope that by 1961 the new theater arts building will be completed.

Three theaters will be included in the new TA building. The new theaters will be used during performances as well as during classroom activities.

Davis believes that success in motion picture industry depends on luck, contacts, breaks and physical appearance. When these opportunities come one has to show his talent.

"Today motion picture work does not require great acting ability. One of the most important potentialities is one's personality," said Davis.

Aid Begins at Home

More than 150 years ago the cry "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute" echcoed across the United States in answer to French politics in the now famous XYZ Affair.

Several years later the United States used this battle cry once again when war was declared with the blackmailing Barbary Pirates of North Africa.

Today, the United States spends not millions, but billions annually for defense. And we also spend billions each year under the broad category of foreign aid.

These billions for foreign aid go to the four corners including almost every country this side of the Iron Curtain and a few countries on the other side.

Some of the United States' best foreign aid customers are General Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, Generalisimo Franco of Spain, Colonel Gamal Nasser of Egypt and Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Much of the money which the U.S. lends out as foreign aid will never be paid back by these four and other modern day "borrowers." In reality all the United States is attempting to do with a great deal of the foreign policy is simply ask for tribute.

There is almost no better way by which friendship can be won than on the field of athletic competition. Yet, this year, just like four years ago, the American Olympic Committee will have to beg and borrow in order to raise the necessary thousands of dollars to send a United States team to participate in the Olympics this summer in Rome.

Education is another field through which friendship may be cultivated. Since foreign aid is also basically designed to help underdeveloped countries and keep their friendship, why not educate the youth of these nations and our country?

Some of these billions now allotted for industrial improvement under the foreign aid program could be used to establish an international free university for the youth of the world.

Such a university could counter the Russians' great coup in establishing a free university for African and Asian students.

Still more of the foreign aid dollars might be set aside to set up a national scholarship bank for outstanding American students.

Certainly, there are other areas in which the hard earned dollars of the American public can be spent than to waste them on dictators who accept United States aid one moment and denounce American "imperialism" the next.

Bloodshed vs. Civil Rights

Bloodshed on the veldts of Sounth Africa has plunged the Dark Continent into a racial conflict that threatens to engulf the 12-year-old Afrikaner government.

Race riots, involving the deaths of more than 100 non-whites, have switched the attention of the world from the relatively mild conflicts in the southern United States to the long anticipated oubreak in the Union of South Africa.

The history of Africa is long and tragic. At the turn of the century the British and the Dutch (Boers) staged a bloody three-year "civil" war that finally resulted in an English victory. Finding that revolution failed, the Boers, now called Afrikaners, set upon a course of evolution.

Finally, in 1949, the first Afrikaner Nationalist Party rose to power, pushing the British into the position of a minority party.

According to Arthur Keppel-Jones, history professor at the South Africa University of Witwaterstrand, their platform was: "To detach South Africa from the British Commonwealth and (inevitably) the domination of the white race over the black."

Now, because of the rigid enforcement of the native pass system, the non-whites are rebelling with what newspapers are calling a "passive resistance." Tension in the conflict heightened with the attempted assassination of Hendrik Verewoerd, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, by David Pratt, a white British farmer.

Dr. Ernest Thacker, history and political science instructor, believes that "group surrender" by the Afrikaner Nationalist Party would be the only solution to the impossible situation that now exists.

"The government may eventually be turned over to Britain," said Dr. Thacker. "This would be a face-saving compromise for the Nationalist Party.

"A grim possibility of outright civil war may break out," said Dr. Thacker. "But in the near future, a resistance of a non-violent nature will probably continue."

"There may be an explosion if Negro resistance gets worse," Dr. Thacker added. "If a civil war occurs, no one will win except the Communists."

Democracy has stagnated in South Africa. A virtual white dictatorship has been established with the disenfranchisement of all non-writes (colored and Bantu) in 1956. Besides being anti-Negro, the government is anti-Mason, anti-Catholic and anti-Jewish.

In 1949 mixed marriages were banned, and in 1957 schools and churches were segregated. Bitter South Africans protested—at first mildly and then more violently. Now, the Sharpeville massacre has proven that "passive resistance" may turn into bloodshed.

"It is doubtful whether blacks in South Africa have enough education to form a program of non-violent discipline," Dr. Thacker concluded.

Africa stands as a symbol. If the problems that the non-whites face in Africa can be resolved, then a lesson can be given to agitators in the southern United States.

Out of this uncompromising conflict a mighty leader like Mahatma Ghandi may rise to lead the suppressed Negroes out of the entanglement of white impressment. The Afrikaners, by inhumane treatment of the Negro's passive resistance, have given him a potent fighting weapon—martyrdom.

Yearbook Sales To Open Today

Sales for the 1960 Crown will begin today and will extend for approximately one month, according to Miss Aura-Lee Ageton, Crown business adviser. Crowns can be reserved every day for $3.50 at a special booth in the Quad or from one of seven salesmen who will be wearing conspicuous tags. Members of the Patricians service club are scheduled to maintain the booth.

The salesmen—Pat Yasiello, David Koorlas, Dick Longwell, Barry Hurwitz, Tony Sydes, Bill Gahret and Phil Bardack—are vying for prizes offered to the top seller.

A plaque will go to the salesman who sells the most books. The next runnerup will receive an award pennant. All salesmen who sell more than 25 books will be given a free Crown.

The yearbook, which went to press last week, will be available during the first few weeks of June, according to Pat Willett, Crown editor. Students who purchase the book now will receive a receipt to be exchanged for a yearbook in the Bookstore when they arrive.

In the meantime, plans are going full scale for the sales campaign. Crown representatives will appear at the VABS Fashion Show April 28. Red and blue signs and KLAV broadcasts are adding to the drive.

Plans are being reviewed for a dance later in the semester, to which Crown subscribers would be admitted free of charge. Other students would pay a 25-cent admission which would help replenish the Green and Gold student loan fund. So far, no definite arrangements have been made.

1960 Crown Meets Final Press Goals

The Crown editorial staff is breathing a long-awaited sigh of relief this week now that the 1960 Crown has gone to press.

Only proofreading confronts the staff after nearly a year's work in setting style and compiling the Crown. Work began unofficially in the spring semester of 1959, when the plans for the book were laid out.

For a semester and a half the staff worked with the photography department to fill the 160 pages with a complete history of Valley's 10th year.

In the back of the book is a new innovation this year, a three-page index listing names of individuals and organizations appearing throughout the book. Special activities are also listed for easier access.

Mock Politics Meet Slated

Simulated political conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties conducted by college students will be attended Friday and Saturday by members of Dr. Marvin Abrahams' and Dr. Richard Hendricks' political science and history classes.

Dr. Abrahams will head the Valley "Democrats" at Los Angeles City College Saturday. They will represent Minnesota at the convention and have planned to nominate Governor G. "Soapy" Williams as a favorite son candidate for president. About 30 students from Valley are scheduled to attend, according to Cliff McMullen, co-chairman.

Occidental College in Eagle Rock is the site of the GOP convention, scheduled for Friday. Valley will again represent Minnesota in the nominating and caucuses. Dr. Hendrick will head this group.

Slate Prom At Hilton

Robert McDonald's dance band will provide the music for the annual spring prom Friday, May 20, in the International Ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills. It will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Admission to the prom is free, with one student body card per couple required. Dress will be formal or dressy.

'Cross Drive Triples 1959

Surpassing last year's amount of student contributions by $261.59, the Valley College student Red Cross Drive collected $428.59. Last year's total was only $167.

"I believe this was due to the cooperation of both the faculty and the students working together," said Frank Pagliaro, chairman for the Red Cross Drive. "Much credit also goes to the speech classes who helped campaign by going to various classes and talking about the many things the Red Cross does."

Easter Bunny Pays Off as Five Tie for Prizes

Only two drawings remain in the Bookstore's jelly bean contest, and the situation may develop into a battle of the sexes betwen the two remaining contestants. The prizes in question are a briefcase and a world globe. Who will win what is anyone's guess.

The two students in question are Norma Grupp and Neil Jensen. They have yet to make their respective drawings.

Th entire problem started when the contest ended in a five-way tie. Each contestant listed 1500 beans in the jar. Originaly there were to be only three winners. The situation was ironed out by tacking on two additional prizes to the list of winnings.

The winners are Wayne Fredgrick, who received a "furry" toy dog; Jan Lerner, who was presented with a pen and pencil set; and Janet Martin, who is now the proud possessor of a scrapbook.

Another question about the contest was who will dispose of the nine pounds of jelly beans. Mrs. Violet Woodall, who runs the Bookstore, answered this saying, "The girls in the office bought them, and they will probably dispose of them in good order."

'Manuscript 6' Taking Shape

Worn copy pencils, cluttered desks and miles of galley proofs are sure signs that Manuscript 6 will make its debut.

Harrison West and Lawrence Spingarn, Manuscript sponsors, are in the midst of editing proofs at the present time.

Manuscript will be available at the bookstore for 50 cents and can be obtained from any English teacher on campus.

Included in Manuscript 6 will be the works of Manuscript contest winners Rita Lakin and Doris Silevrton. Tyro award winners will also be featured.

Clubs Plan Fiesta

Beta Phi To Host High School Scribes

Beta Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism society, is currently working on plans for its annual High School Journalism Day to be held May 12 in conjunction with Fiesta.

Students and journalism advisers from more than 16 local high schools have been invited to participate in the event, which includes writing contests, workshops and an awards banquet.

The event is planned to introduce high school journalists to the college journalism department and to professional newspapermen, who also attend the event.

A committee on Beta Phi's Fiesta booth will present a report today on the club's Fiesta plans. A display booth with issues of all campus publications and photographs is planned. Crown representatives will probably join the booth to sell subscriptions to the 1960 Crown.

In addition, a new scholarship of $100 is being offered to incoming high school journalists by Ralph Palmer, managing-editor of the Hollywood Citizen News. The new grant joins the two that have been given in the past by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Quisenberry of the Valley Times and Ferdinand Mendenhall of the Van Nuys News.

Evolution Subject For Newman Talk

Evolution and the interpretation of Genesis will be the subject of Father Marcellus' lecture tonight at 8 at the Newman Club Centef, 4246 Fulton Ave., Sherman Oaks.

Sponsored by the Inter-Collegiate Executive Board of the San Fernando Valley New Clubs, Father Marcellus received his PhD in philosophy from the University of Paris. All interested students are invited to attend.

Knights To Circulate 'Inside' Magazine

Knights, men's honorary society, have agreed to distribute the first issue of "Inside the Los Angeles Colleges" magazine which will be released to the public Monday.

Some 500 magazines will be distributed in the Valley area to waiting rooms of doctors, lawyers, beauty salons and other places where they will be in easy acess to the public, said Andy Nowell, president of the Knights.

Bernstein To Take Lunch Reservations

Those planning to attend the Writer's Club annual spring luncheon can contact Sylvain Bernstein, club sponsor and English insructor, or any club member to get reservations.

The price for the luncheon is $3 and will be held at the Colonial House May 6. Ray Bradbury, science fiction author, is scheduled as the guest speaker.

Students who have manuscripts that they would like to have read and discussed are invited to attend the next regular meeting of the club Friday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Anne Marie Morris, 14957 Valley Vista, Sherman Oaks.

Fiesta

candidates will be erected in the patio area of the Quad on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, beginning May 3 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

The following rules for the King and Queen elections have been established, according to Haim.

1. No campaigning will be permitted within 50 feet of the polls.

2. All candidates will be required to turn into Dean Royer's office an 8 by 10 inch photograph for display near the voting booths during voting by Monday.

3. Candidates must have a campaign manager to be responsible to the election committee for infractions of election rules and to coordinate activities for their respective candidates.

4. Any candidate not adhering to the above regulations will be disqualified.

"The committee feels that this is a popularity contest," said Haim. "We hope the girls will support the Fiesta tradition and help us to support Fiesta."

Lion Spikers Host Pierce in Night Meet

Pennant Looms In Final Round

By DUDLEY NICHOLSON, Star Sports Writer

Forgetting the Easter Egg it laid in the first Valley College Easter Baseball Classic, the Monarch nine turns toward what will probably be the three most important games of the season. Valley moved into first place in the Metropolitan Conference by defeating San Diego and Bakersfield, and now must meet El Camino, San Diego and Long Beach, who are in a three-way tie for second, all in one week.

Valley defeated Bakersfield 13-7 during vacation.

The Lions meet the Warriors tomorrow on Pike Field at 3 p.m. and the next day see the Knights at San Diego.

A non-conference game with Cerritos is scheduled for Monday to ease the Metro pressure and then back to conference action Wednesday when the Monarchs travel to Long Beach.

April 8, San Diego bowed to the hard hitting Lions 13-8, giving up 17 hits from four pitchers. It was the first conference loss for the Knights this season.

Third baseman Marty Jacobson and rightfielder Dave Miller banged out three hits apiece for Coach Charlie Mann's charges.

When Valley starting pitcher Buster Mann walked from the hill in the fifth. San Diego held a 7-2 lead. In the bottom of the fifth Valley capitalized on five walks, two errors and four singles to give the suddenly alive Monarchs a 10-7 advantage.

From there on in reliever Howie Reisbord held San Diego to one run and three hits while Valley added three stay-ahead runs in the sixth.

Reedley Junior College walked off with the tourney by tying Valley 5-5; defeating Citrus 6-4 and squeezing by Chaffey 11-9 for the trophy.

In the first game, the Monarchs tied champion Reedley 5-5. Six errors were committed in the game, five by the usually sure gloved Lions.

The Monarchs lowered the boom on Chaffey 11-4 in the second game, by collecting 12 hits — three by Tom Mann and two each by outfielder-catcher Miller, first baseman Mike Baker and leftfielder Dick Rowe.

While the Lions were banging out hits, Floyd Meyers was pitching his best game of the season. Meyers allowed four runs to cross the plate and only four hits, while striking out 11 batters.

In the final game against Citrus, Valley could have tied for the title, but met Ezell Singleton, whose humming fast ball held the impotent Valley nine to two hits.

Metro Sets Meet For Swimmers

Tuning up for the Metropolitan Conference Swimming Meet April 21-22, the Monarch swim team dropped its last conference match to Santa Monica 59-30. In this meet, Dick Johnson broke the school record in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 54.7. The old mark was 58.3 set by Dick Traub in 1958 in the conference relays.

The medley relay team consisting of Ted Walters, Doug Meyers, Tom Ely and Dick Sandt broke the school record in the 400-yard Medley Relay with a time of 4:12.8. The old mark was 4:28.6 set by Newton, Eden, Trax and Traub in the El Camino match of 1958.

Monarch Gymnasts in California Finals; LACC Picked for 20th Championship

Lions gymnasts travel to the state finals Tuesday, figuring to give Pasadena and Trade Tech a run for second place behind LACC. The meet will be held in the Cubs' gym at 7 p.m. Valley finished second in Metro dual season behind East Los Angeles following the Huskies' 75-69 victory over the hapless Monarchs.

The results of the Metropolitan Conference finals held yesterday were not known at press time.

Two first places and a tie were all Valley could muster while the Huskies' Willie Walker was walking away with four first places.

Steve McLean broke 4.2 for the first time this season by winning the rope climb in 4.1. Bill Borden tied Walker for first on the high bar and Dick Sottile, who has only been beaten once on the rings this year, took his event.

Follosco doesn't think the Huskies will present much of a problem when the finals are held at LACC, but sees no chance of a Monarch first place over the Cubs.

Pasadena and Trade Tech are a different proposition. Trade Tech bowed to the Lions by one point and since the Technicians have no eligibility problems, all men should compete.

Pasadena poses the biggest threat to the Lions' second place hopes. Valley squeezed by the Lancers 68-64, minus the services of Pasadena's 3.7 rope climber, Art Darnell.

To the state finals Valley will take their whole team headed by Bill Borden, Terry Hale, Dick Sottile and Pete King.

Bill Borden, defending state high bar champion, should find repeating a tough chore. LACC's Don McLarty beat Borden by a slim margin in the LACC meet this year.

VALLEY 69, EAST LOS ANGELES 75

Rope—McLean (V), Underwood (V), Heredia (ELA), 4.7.
Free Exercise—Caro (ELA), King (V), Walker (ELA).

Inez Doubtful For EC Match

Benny Inez, Valley's first singles player, may be ineligible for the match with El Camino Wednesday and may be out for the entire season, according to Mark Mathews, tennis coach.

In action prior to the Easter holidays, the Monarchs split their two matches defeating Long Beach 5-4 and losing to East Los Angeles by the same score.

Rate Civil War Meet Toss-Up

By DAN FAPP, Star Sports Writer

Three of the biggest battles of the season lay ahead for the Valley College spikers as they travel to meet San Diego and Santa Monica Friday and engage Pierce Tuesday night in a non-conference meet. Two wins in the closing double-dual meet would place the Monarchs second in the loop behind Bakersfield College. Likewise, a loss to either or both foes would drop the Monarchs to third and maybe fourth in the final standings. These two "crucial" meets are scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. on the Santa Monica oval.

Santa Monica's power seems to be centered around Dan Ghormley, a hurdler and weightman. Ghormley recently set a new low hurdle record of 23.9, while also winning the high hurdles and placing in the shot, discus and broad jump.

Al Jacoby, the Monarchs' one-man gang, will be able to compete in the shot and discus against the Knights and the Bucs. He will return to full duty in the weights, broad jump and sprints against Pierce.

"The Santa Monica and San Diego meets shold be close," said Monarch Coach George Ker, "but I think we can win both."

The Pierce meet under the arcs Tuesday at 7 p.m. proves to be a typical cross-valley battle. With Valley winning all three previous meetings, both teams seem evenly matched.

As for the Pierce meet, Ker plans no special changes in an effort to help weak events. Ker has doped the meet 63-59 with the Monarchs on top.

Across the Valley, Bob Chambers, Pierce's track mentor, says that he also expects a tight meet all the way.

"I will make some switches for the meet," said Chambers, "in order to compensate for Valley's depth in the distances."

Chambers would not disclose this plan of strategy, but with the Brahmas' depth in the sprints and lack of depth in the hurdles it looks as if one of the sprinters might take up hurdling for a week.

Eight meet records should fall in the fourth meeting of the two teams. Pierce's Ray Green (9.5) should break the 9.9 standard in the 100, while Gary Comer should win the 440-yard dash.

Happy Easter?

Lion's Den

By Craig Altschul, sports editor

Rule Out the Barrel

Let's eliminate the ole "Barrel Roll" blues on the baseball basepaths.

V. I. Moran, a baseball fan from Monmouth, Ill., wrote the editor of the Sporting News asking how long the "mayhem on the bases" was going to be permitted.

This is a good question, and it applies even more specifically to collegiate, high school and sandlot baseball than it does to the majors.

Moran was referring to the attempt of a baserunner to break up a double play by a flying barrel roll.

Many baseball players have had their careers ruined by second base injuries that should have been avoidable.

Valley Coach Charlie Mann said that a rule change would definitely be in order for college ball on down. He said that major league stars like Charlie Neal are so agile that sometimes they can avoid being injured by leaping in the air on a double play attempt.

It seems a crime to have young, aspiring ball players lose out on a baseball career because of spike wounds inflicted by a barrel-rolling baserunner.

What would this rule change be?

It would be an automatic double play whenever a base-runner charges headlong into a fielder attempting to pivot.

Some will surely say that this will make a kiddie game out of baseball. Some will say it will make baseball a non-contact sport.

This is not true. For one thing, a baseball player can expect to play anywhere from 5 to 10 years longer than a football player.

That would indicate that an early injury could easily be the end of what might be a flowering horsehide career.

Mann pointed out Milwaukee's Mel Roach, who injured his leg in a barreling incident and has never been anywhere near the same.

Dennis Monahan, Valley's second baseman, missed about eight games in the early season because of a spike accident at the COS tournament.

Mann doesn't really feel the new rule will come about but did say he is definitely in favor of such a change.

* * *

It's all going to be decided for Mann's sparkling baseballers this week. You can write off the Easter Tourney as a "who cares" because the two crucials between San Diego and Bakersfield were of foremost importance and the tourney was a let down.

CORVAIR BY CHEVROLET DRIVE IT! GET OUR DEAL!!!!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Practically flat floor . . . real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride. Rear-engine traction . . . that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

This airplane is actually a flying classroom. The course taught in it is Air Navigation, under real conditions. The students are young men who have been selected as possible future leaders of the Aerospace Team. Graduation after 32 weeks of training will win each of the students the honored silver wings of an Air Force Navigator and an Officer's Commission.

For certain young men, this training can open the way to a bright career of executive potential. Right now the Air Force is scoring impressive technological advances in the fields of navigation, guidance and tracking, electronics and radar. And here is where its highly trained and experienced Navigators will be expected to take over command positions of increasing responsibility.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet, you must be between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. And you must want to build an exciting, interesting career in the Aerospace Age. If you think you measure up, we'd like to talk to you at the nearest Air Force Recruiting Office. Or clip and mail this coupon.
